Betty Furness Resigns, Raps State Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Betty Furness, discharged from the state legislature, resigned her post as chairman of the State Consumer Protection Board Monday, saying she could do more for consumers as a private citizen than in her $31,000-a-year job.

"The state legislature doesn't believe in protecting the consumer," she said. "There is no use going on, they aren't going to change—they're just too conservative."

Miss Furness, a Hollywood actress who became well known in the early days of television as the girl who opened refrigerator doors on the commercials, served as special assistant for consumer affairs under President Lyndon B. Johnson from 1967 to 1969. She took the state post a year ago when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller created the State Consumer Protection Agency and named her its first chairman.

In an interview at her Hartsdale, N.Y., home, Miss Furness said she was not optimistic about the future of the state agency. She said consumer agencies had to be politically independent and this one wasn't.

"As for me, I think that under the circumstances under which I was working that I can do better outside," she said. "I think I can and will do better on behalf of all consumers."

"I think there is a great deal to be said for the Ralph Nader approach. Stand outside and holler at everybody. I look on him as our leader. But I think there are things I can do independently of Ralph. The more working in the arena, the better."

Attacks From Trustee At Ellenville Meeting

By WADE BUKKHART

ELLENVILLE

Trustee David Kramer had a few things to say about the running of the Village of Ellenville at Monday's meeting of the Village Board, none of them complimentary.

Kramer attacked the Urban Renewal project, the village manager's concept of the role of a trustee, the village streets, the village water system, and the treatment of the youth of Ellenville.

Mayor Robert Dowling and Trustee DeWitt Clinton, agreeing with some of Kramer's remarks, had some reservations.

Kramer said the "people have been lied to, made fools of, and have not received the full benefits of" Urban Renewal in Ellenville. He particularly referred to streets and sidewalks in Ellenville, which he said should have been provided for and repaired under Urban Renewal. He called for the newly appointed Interim Urban Renewal Director Gerald Herman to set up a meeting in New York between village and HUD officials to review the program.

Saying he had been told by Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres to "keep his nose out of" the Water Department, Kramer said he would not be a "puppet on a string." Eyres maintains the function of a trustee is legislative, and his is executive, according to Kramer, and Kramer could not accept this separation of powers.

He also said the water system needed improvements, Ellenville's streets should be rebuilt before they are repaired, and the youth of the community should get basketball courts and a new meeting hall.

He consistently referred to "the majority" of the board as favoring the changes he advocated. The majority on the board are Democrats.

Dowling objected to Kramer's insinuation that the Republicans on the board were not in favor of some of the improvements. He said Kramer's speech was the sort of thing "that's tearing this board apart."

Dowling said, "It makes good headlines, though, I'll tell you that."

Dowling and Clinton are the board's two Republicans.

Clinton differed with Kramer on the "tone" of his speech, and on Kramer's idea of the role of a trustee. Clinton said the "line command and responsibility" must be maintained, and trustees should work through the village manager to effect changes. The implication was that Kramer at times did not.

Village Attorney Alex J. Nirenberg delivered his report on the one-way street issue. It had been determined by The Freeman that the ordinance making one-way streets in Ellenville was never properly rescinded. Nirenberg said it didn't matter if it hadn't, since the ordinance had never been adopted properly. He said all legal steps had been taken, except the adopted ordinance had never been published, and so legally had never gone into effect. There are still two one-way streets in Ellenville under that improperly adopted ordinance, and it was not explained what was to become of them.

College, Seniors and SPCA Main Topic for Legislature

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

The Community College budget, drugs, senior citizens and the Ulster County SPCA will be topics of discussion at a special meeting of the Legislature tonight in the County Office Building. Part of the meeting is private and part is open to the public.

The public segment will deal with two resolutions to be acted upon with regard to the senior citizens and the SPCA, but no information as to their content has been made available by the office of the County Legislature.

It is known however that the county, which has $7,000 in the 1971 budget for the SPCA, has not given any of the funds to the dog pound and is presently under no contract with the association.

In the past the county has contributed money each year but failed this year when the SPCA refused to abide with a Department of Agriculture and Markets ruling that under certain circumstances, dogs may be taken from the pound for use in medical research.

Meanwhile it has been reported that the City of Kingston and the county may be going into the animal control business jointly. The report followed the June 1 SPCA cancellation of its contracts with the city and the county as of July 1. The city's contract was for $10,000.

The Auditing Committee of the city refused to approve the monthly voucher to the SPCA for $833.33 at its June meeting because the council did not receive a report from the SPCA.

Trouble with the SPCA, internally and externally has been prevalent for sometime now. A number of members of its own board of directors have resigned within the past year and two public hearings were held in early June with no definitive action taken due to the absence of Mrs. Katherine Stouenburgh association president.

On June 17 word was received that the shelter managers had been fired by Mrs. Stouenburgh and the move brought indignation from many quarters.

Chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, Peter J. Savago indicated opposition to the county pound stating that it might be better for each town to operate its own. Up until now, each town has been taking care of its own dog problems and using the services of the SPCA.

The Community College budget and the discussions concerning the Drug Commission will be held in two executive sessions called by Savago. The drug topic will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by the discussion of the college budget on which a public hearing will be held at a later date. When the latter session is concluded then the meeting will be open to the public.

Information concerning the resolution dealing with the senior citizens is unknown at this time, but the county has created a Senior Citizens Advisory Committee this year and contemplates aiding the group monetarily as well as in an advisory capacity.

Red Hook Police... Pro and Con Comments

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK

Several comments, both pro and con, concerning the work of Red Hook Village police, were recorded at the board meeting Monday night.

Mayor Robert Bowman commended patrolman Rexford Maine for apprehending a robbery suspect on Route 199 last week when off duty, and the rest of the board joined in congratulations.

Police Commissioner Douglas Magley noted that the village radar was back in order and is being used daily, on all shifts, on most of the village streets.

A resident, Richard G. Engel, complained that there were too many speeders on Route 9 north, and added that there have been numerous instances lately of young girls being accosted.

Maine said that patrol cars are in that area on the average of 25-30 times a shift; Bowman said that help would be requested from sheriff's and state police departments.

In other village business, the business of water department irregularities reported in the last audit by state inspectors was let die a natural death with reference to the event, but no critical remarks, by residents.

Trustee John Gilfeather reported on the progress of the computerized water billing service with the City of Poughkeepsie, saying that the first quarter had been completed and that the board would take a hard look at the system after three quarters to determine whether it should continue for another year's contract.

The contract costs 85 cents per customer per quarter. There have been about 75 broken meters found already through investigation.

A street lighting contract for $11,614 for one year was approved by the board with Central Hudson.

Gilfeather said that a delay in a zoning approval in Rhinebeck had Kingston Cablevision inquiring about installing its antenna at the Red Hook village water tower, but a test had proved that the signal was inadequate. A public hearing on the Rhinebeck site will be held Wednesday evening at the Rhinebeck Town Hall.

MAYOR BOWMAN

A note from the state was read informing the village that funds would be forthcoming for curtailed recreation activities.

Trustee James Melley reported that blacktopping on several village streets had been completed and there are sufficient funds for one more large project and several small ones.

Cleanup days were set for July 21 and 22.

NAACP Cites Youth Group

KINGSTON

Routine business matters occupied most of Tuesday night's meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, according to Mrs. Annie Jackson, NAACP Secretary.

No future plans for activities of the local unit of the NAACP were made. The Junior Chapter of the NAACP, however, was cited for its recent dinner-dance held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Trustee Fred Cotting said that he was getting together with the village auditor in the near future to determine what monies are available for investment purposes.

Attorney Douglas Wicks suggested that the Village of Red Hook adopt an unsafe buildings local law to deal with future contingencies. The matter will be investigated, and Wicks was instructed to draw up a sample law.

Progress Reports At Tivoli, Meeting

TIVOLI

The Tivoli Board of Trustees Monday night noted that the necessary signatures on a contract to install a secondary sewerage system for the village would probably be forthcoming by July 20.

The plant, to be located on the White Clay Kill, is a state and federally mandated expense which was awarded one month ago. Company and engineer signatures must be affixed.

Other business during the short meeting included progress reports on several village houses which are being torn down under the face-lifting program. The village this spring adopted a local law giving it the right to unsafe and collapsed buildings.

Mayor Mortimer Appel noted that the board is "very happy" with the privately contracted garbage collection which began about two months ago.

And he said that there has been no word on the development of Tivoli Acres, a housing subdivision off Woods Road. The land was purchased from the village this past winter for $32,000 and Trustee Herbert Mead said, "They're paying taxes on it."

And the board proclaimed July 20, a Tuesday, as the monthly cleanup day when residents may get rid of almost anything smaller than a car by placing it in front of their home.

Water Conservation Urged in Rosendale

ROSENDALE

Trustee Arthur Mulligan, serving as Deputy Mayor of Rosendale during the absence of Mayor Carl Grassi, today urged residents of the village to conserve on water usage to prevent a possible crisis later in the summer.

Mulligan said that drought conditions this summer have placed added pressures on the village water system, and he requested village residents to "watch carefully" their water consumption.

It was emphasized that no official restrictions on water usage are being imposed at this time. But it was warned that some restrictions might be imposed later if drought conditions are not relieved by rain.

or if water consumption begins to exceed the supply available. Grassi is away on vacation.

POW WOW — Like any other boy his age, 10-year-old Eric Pearson (R) has a fascination for America's Indian heritage. But Eric wasn't satisfied with mere dreams about nights around council campfires, so the fifth grade student at the Chambers School built his own teepee — from scratch — with just a little help from his friends and neighbors. The brightly painted teepee took more than a month to design and erect and much of the supplies were donated by neighbors in Eric's Hinsdale Street area, prompting the young warrior's mother to comment, "Our neighborhood must be the nicest one in the whole world." Mrs. Kenneth Pearson added, "The neighbors are always interested in what the kids are doing." The tribe inside the teepee are all members of the neighborhood Indian Club. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Busy City, County Firemen Battle Several Blazes Throughout Area

EAST KINGSTON
Investigation was underway today by State Police, deputy sheriffs and fire officials who are seeking to determine whether fires that destroyed three vacant frame houses and a garage on the property of the Brigham Brick Co. yards on Railroad Avenue were set by an arsonist.
Other fires were reported in the area including a shed house blaze that was fought Monday afternoon by Rochester Fire Co. 2 and Accord fire units. Meanwhile, Kingston firemen were kept busy answering calls for fires involving brush and meat on a kitchen range and also for a gas leak caused by a cave-in at a Lucas Avenue construction job.
The incendiary fires in the Brigham Brick yard were discovered at about midnight and when East Kingston firemen arrived at the scene with four trucks in charge of Chief Thomas Clausi they found flames sweeping three frame houses and a vacant garage.
Two of the houses and the garage were on one side of the avenue and the third house was on the opposite side of the road.
Chief Clausi with 30 firefighters battled the flames and through their good work other buildings on the property were saved. It was reported. Within the last several days at least nine fires were reported on the brickyard property.
Fire officials said the buildings were completely engulfed in flames when the first units of firemen arrived. Reflection of the blaze could be seen throughout the area.

Rochester Fire Co. 2 assisted by Accord volunteers were dispatched to Schwambie Turnpike in the mountain area Monday afternoon after fire was discovered in a frame woodshed. On arrival of firefighters in command of Accord Fire Chief Arthur Lapp they found the shed in flames and fire was burning through an outer wall of a vacant house attached. The blaze burned through part of the interior of the building.
Chief Lapp, who fought the fire with 25 volunteer firefighters is trying to locate the owners of the property. During the blaze, dry leaves, grass and brush ignited but firemen quickly checked the flames.
At 4:35 a.m. today, Kingston firemen responded to a call after a resident at 30 Lucas Avenue reported strong odors of a construction in front of the home of Brian Owings at 30 Lucas Avenue.

Investigation disclosed that a

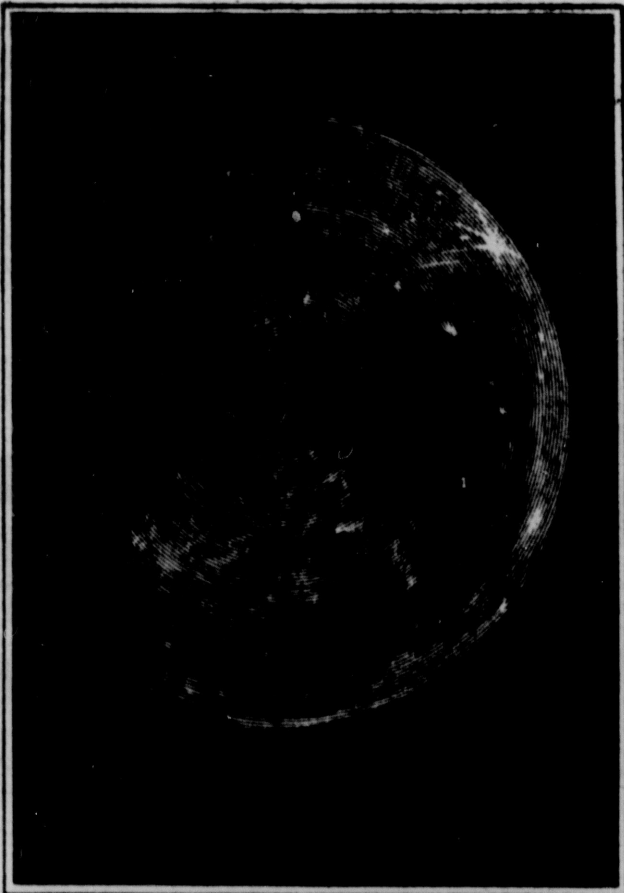

Youth Arrested, Trespass Charge

TOWN OF KINGSTON
Three youths were spotted in the Avis Rental Service building on Albany Avenue Extension early today, and when deputy sheriff's arrived for a routine check the trio fled leaving their bicycles behind, according to Sergeant Ray Davis.
Subsequent investigation resulted in the arrest of 16-year-old Lester Marshall of 76 Liberty Street, Kingston, on a charge of criminal trespass second degree. He was taken in custody at his home.
The youth was arraigned before Town Justice Robert Ferrigan. He was held in $200 bail pending another court appearance on Wednesday.
The arrest was made by Corporal Douglas Van Gieson of the sheriff's office, assisted by Deputies Angel Baez, Roger Lapp and Jeffrey Whittaker.
The other two youths, who reportedly were with the Marshall youth are being sought.

cave-in broke a gas main, in command of Deputy Southard Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was notified and Engine 2 in charge of Deputy Chief Glyn Southard and Lieutenant Donald Hammond stoodby until repairs were made. Truck 2 also responded to the alarm.
At 6:09 p.m. yesterday Engine 1 and Union and Cordts Hose units answered a call after a brush fire was reported in the rear of 389 First Avenue. The fire also involved junk cars, officials said. Booster lines from Union and Cordts units and Indian tanks were used to quell the blaze. Deputy Southard was in charge of firemen.
Five fire companies answered an alarm at 7:35 p.m. Monday after smoke was reported coming from a 2 1/2 story frame house at 28 Oak Street. Firemen entered the residence owned and occupied by Janet Brooks and found a pan of meat burning on the kitchen range. Smoke damage was reported in rooms on both floors.

Apollo 15—Final Dress Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The launch team put Apollo 15 through the final hours of a dress rehearsal countdown today to clear the way for the real launch to the moon in 13 days.

The towering rocket was being fueled with nearly 1 million gallons of propellants and virtually every other countdown operation was included in the drill except for the actual ignition of the five engines on the Saturn 5 booster rocket.

Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin skipped the exercise today because of the hazards involved with a fueled rocket. They will run through their part of the countdown Wednesday when the Saturn is drained.

The countdown rehearsal marks the last major pre-launch test in a long series that started as soon as the 363-foot rocket was moved to the ocean-side launch pad two months ago. Before that, spacecraft and rocket sections were checked individually.

The purpose of the exercise was to check the Saturn and its complicated system of ground support equipment under realistic countdown conditions to turn up any problems that might disrupt the planned July 26 launching.

The trial countdown started last Wednesday. The only problem reported up today was a leaky fuel plug in the Saturn first stage. The part was replaced without delaying the test.

The 10½ ton mobile service structure was moved away from the Saturn Monday afternoon and the rocket stood exposed on the ocean-side launch pad. It was illuminated by floodlights during the night.

After the astronauts run through the last 3½ hours of their countdown Wednesday, wearing spacesuits as they will on launch day, engineers will dismantle testing equipment and start preparations to start the actual countdown next week.

Apollo 15 is the nation's longest moon expedition. It is scheduled to last 12 days and seven hours with nearly half of that time spent on or around the moon.

Stratton Pushes for SST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., is aiming high in the air to try and breathe life back into the supersonic transport (SST) project.

The Amsterdam Democrat said Monday that the White House might authorize tests to see whether flights faster than the speed of sound might increase skin cancer and cause other environmental problems.

Environmental arguments were successfully used by opponents to the SST when it was killed in the Congress earlier this year.

Stratton earlier had suggested the Air Force reactivate its lone B-70 bomber, now in the Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio, to test the environmental impact of supersonic flight.

When that proposal fell to earth, Stratton continued to urge tests conducted by high-altitude supersonic aircraft.

Releasing a letter from Edward E. David Jr., the White House science adviser, Stratton said a military SR-71, a successor to the U2 reconnaissance plane, may be used in the proposed tests.

In the letter David said the emission data "will be used as inputs in analytical studies of the upper atmosphere in order to obtain a prediction of long-range effects that may occur as a result of flights of large numbers of SSTs."

"In addition, high altitude flights are being considered, using existing operational aircraft, for collection of baseline data on composition of the atmosphere at these altitudes and for possible additional tests in which controlled amounts of specific emissions would be released, and the effects carefully monitored."

It was understood that David's reference to the additional tests using controlled amounts of emissions envisioned using a supersonic aircraft as a high-altitude testing platform from which emissions could be released.

The proposed Transportation Department budget, now pending before Congress, contains a $15 million item to study control of the effects of transportation on the environment.

James M. Beggs, undersecretary of transportation, testified last week that $4.8 million of this would be earmarked for "comprehensive research to determine definitively whether a fleet of SST and other high-altitude aircraft could adversely affect the earth's climate."

Beggs said the SST study was needed because of the "conflicting claims of atmospheric scientists" about the probable effect of high-flying jets.

CBS Issue—Historic Either Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—Certain to make history however it decides, the House of Representatives was offered the choice today of either holding CBS in contempt or rejecting the recommendation of a committee chairman.

The issue is a contempt citation against the Columbia Broadcasting System and its president, Frank Stanton, for refusing to surrender to the material used in making the CBS documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

The film was critical of military public relations activities, but the information demanded was raw material not telecast in the finished program.

While committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., insisted the panel's contempt vote of 25 to 13 was not a challenge to the 1st Amendment's free-speech and free-press guarantees, CBS took a different view.

"The people," Staggers said, "must be assured that what they are viewing on their television screens is true and accurate. If you deny Congress the right to inquire into this, the public's last recourse is gone."

It is the first citation ever sought by a congressional committee against a segment of the broadcast media.

CBS contended the requested, but unused, film takes are in the same category as a news reporter's notes and thereby are protected by the 1st Amendment.

Professional associations and groups representing all segments of journalism have expressed concern over the committee's recommendation and its possible impact on freedom of the press.

Opponents already have cited the historic practice within the Congress itself of allowing members to revise, edit or alter their own remarks before publication in the Congressional Record.

House rules provide for one hour of debate on the question of turning the citation over to the Justice Department for consideration.

Conviction on the contempt charge carries a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

BLAMES LABOR DEPARTMENT—Kenneth J. Yablonski, son of Joseph A. Yablonski who was murdered after he had challenged President W. A. (Tony) Boyle in a United Mine Workers Union election, charged in testimony before the Senate Labor subcommittee Monday that failure of the Labor Department to prosecute union election violations vigorously was a contributing factor in the slaying. In appearing before the subcommittee, Kenneth Yablonski said he was representing a dissident group known as Miners for Democracy. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

25-Count Corona Indictment

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—A labor contractor, was arrested after 25 bodies of field workers were exhumed during late May and early June along the Feather River and surrounding orchards north of Yuba City.

The grand jury members were ordered not to discuss the case with anyone by Sutter County Superior Court Judge John G. Hauck, at least until a decision was made on whether a transcript of the testimony presented is filed in court.

Battle in White House Over Pollution

WASHINGTON — For more than a year, a backroom battle to keep nuclear and other electric power facilities from polluting our environment has been raging within the White House. At the heart of these heated discussions has been whether the government should have the right to make sure new plants and power lines don't contaminate our streams, shores and forests. This right to veto ecology-damaging sites would have prevented such recently publicized environmental disasters as the smoke-choked Four Corners scandal in America's Southwest, where plants are polluting once pure air.

The balding hero of the closed-door White House conversations has been Dave Freeman, a peppery, middle-aged Southerner who is President Nixon's expert on energy policy.

Opposing Freeman at these tense conferences has been none other than John Nassikas, the hot-tongued Federal Power Chairman. We have already exposed how Nassikas is trying to give away $4 billion of the housewife's money in a Louisiana natural gas rate case.

Now it's clear that Nassikas is the champion not only of the natural gas industry but the electric power industry.

Nassikas sought for hour after hour in the White House work sessions to block Freeman's attempts to protect the environment. But instead, Freeman began to gather support from other conferees.

The President's Environmental Quality Council delegate supported Freeman and even the Atomic Energy Commission often agreed with him. Nassikas soon found himself alone on the crucial issue. But even after the report was written, Nassikas kept up his lobbying. He quietly submitted a bill of his own, tailored to please the utility giants.

Secret Lobbying

President Nixon, however, backed Freeman and urged a strong government voice in the selection of future electric facilities.

When Nassikas could not prevail for the electric interests in his White House confrontations with Freeman, they took their case to Interior Secretary Rogers Morton whose department would have the lead role under the White House proposals.

Morton met with them privately. Led by the Edison Electric Institute, they angrily denounced the White House bill's key points. Freeman, although a guest at the interior meeting, spoke up sharply defending the bill.

Morton asked the lobbyists and officials to give their written views to Assistant Secretary James Smith. They quickly complied and Smith sent a confidential memo to Morton last month.

The Smith memo, while rejecting some of the companies' most outrageous proposals, recommends to Morton that the White House bill be watered down. At this writing, Morton has not decided whether to side with the utility companies.

Footnote: Smith was out of the country. His deputy, Jim Watt, told us that the Smith memo was designed to make the White House bill "more effective" in protecting the environment without injuring needed power development. Freeman and Nassikas declined all comment.

Washington Whirl

Belly Dance — A government bigwig got ensnared in a belly dancer's scarf the other night at a Miami housing convention. The merry-maker was John Edmunds, an Atlanta housing official, whose hijinks were reported to Housing Secretary George Romney. Edmunds was accused not only of attending but participating in "a strip belly-dance show." He put it a bit more delicately himself, when we asked him about the episode. "I did go to a floor show," he confessed. He also sat at a ringside table and watched "a night club type of dancer." During her dance, he admitted, "she came over and got close, yes sir." But Edmunds insisted he hadn't participated in her act, at least not voluntarily. "She put one of those capes over my head," he explained.

Bayh's Bills — Our recent report on Sen. Birch Bayh's lavish campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination brought an immediate response from Washington's Shrader Sound, Inc. Bayh bought two Ampex tape recorders and other electronic equipment from Shrader last March, who expected pay in 10 days. Three months later, less than $200 of the $2,000 bill had been paid. Then we wrote Bayh as raking in between $25,000 and $30,000 a month, which he was spending on champagne breakfasts, chauffeur-driven Rolls-Royces, black-tie dinners and free booze for Democratic leaders. At Bayh headquarters, a sheepish spokesman confirmed the debt and said a check was going out within a week.

HEW Retaliation? — Nixon officials were not happy over a jazzy, anti-Nixon slide show given last summer at a Health, Education, and Welfare Department orientation session for student interns. This year, the officials quietly cut the number of interns at HEW from 230 to 110. Insiders tell us the cutback was ordered, despite an overflow of applications, to keep the intern program more manageable and to reduce the chance that the Nixon Administration might be embarrassed again. An official spokesman, however, attributed the cutback to a tight budget. He said the funds were going instead to recruit blacks as high school summer aides.

Powell Papers — Some prosecutors who worked on the Adam Clayton Powell case are grumbling about the Justice Department's attitude toward the Pentagon Papers caper. One of the chief charges against Daniel Ellsberg is that he failed to return the controversial Pentagon documents. In contrast, Powell carted off ten times more documents from the House Education Committee's files the day the House ordered him to step aside, yet the Justice Department never even charged Powell with the alleged theft.

Ulster Belt Tightening

These are the times that try men's souls—especially when the seemingly endless bounty emanating from Albany shows signs of drying up.

The legislators of Ulster County are now facing these unpleasant circumstances since it was announced that this county stands a good chance of being $1.8 million in the hole because of state aid cutbacks to all localities. Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago and Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye have issued a call for a "serious re-evaluation of county finances" due to the tight economic situation.

As a first step, the legislators passed a resolution by a vote of 28-3 requiring that all county department heads give a detailed report of all expenditures to the end of last June; submit a list of projected expenditures for the remainder of the year; stop all hiring of new employees or the promotion of an employee in any department unless such a move has the approval of the Legislature's finance committee.

Obviously, the whole country seems to be removing itself from the more liberal spending programs that were popular for more than two decades following World War II. It must be a frightening thing to some politicians to realize that the public well is in danger of running dry—but it seems our representatives in the county legislature recognize this fact and are rightfully trimming the financial sails.

The Supreme Court

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger does not like labels. He thinks calling the current Supreme Court the Burger Court is a misnomer. It is a court of law, not of personality, he says. Well and good, let's take him at his word.

Between the school bus issue, the first case argued last October, and the restraint of publication case, the last argued in June, the court heard an unprecedented number of issues of substance.

It must be said that the court presided over by Chief Justice Burger at least moved with speed and dispatch. It postponed consideration of pollution, until next term. It handed down a narrow, technical ruling on abortion, deciding the trial question, but leaving the big issue unresolved. It met head-on issues like school busing, job bias, economic discrimination. It considered more than 4,000 cases and decided more than 150 after oral arguments.

At 71, he bridged the generation gap with his music.

A black man, he erased the skin colors that separated lesser men, black and white.

Call him Mr. Jazz. Call him Louis Armstrong the Trumpeter. Call him Satchmo the Singer. It didn't matter. He was king in his own music field.

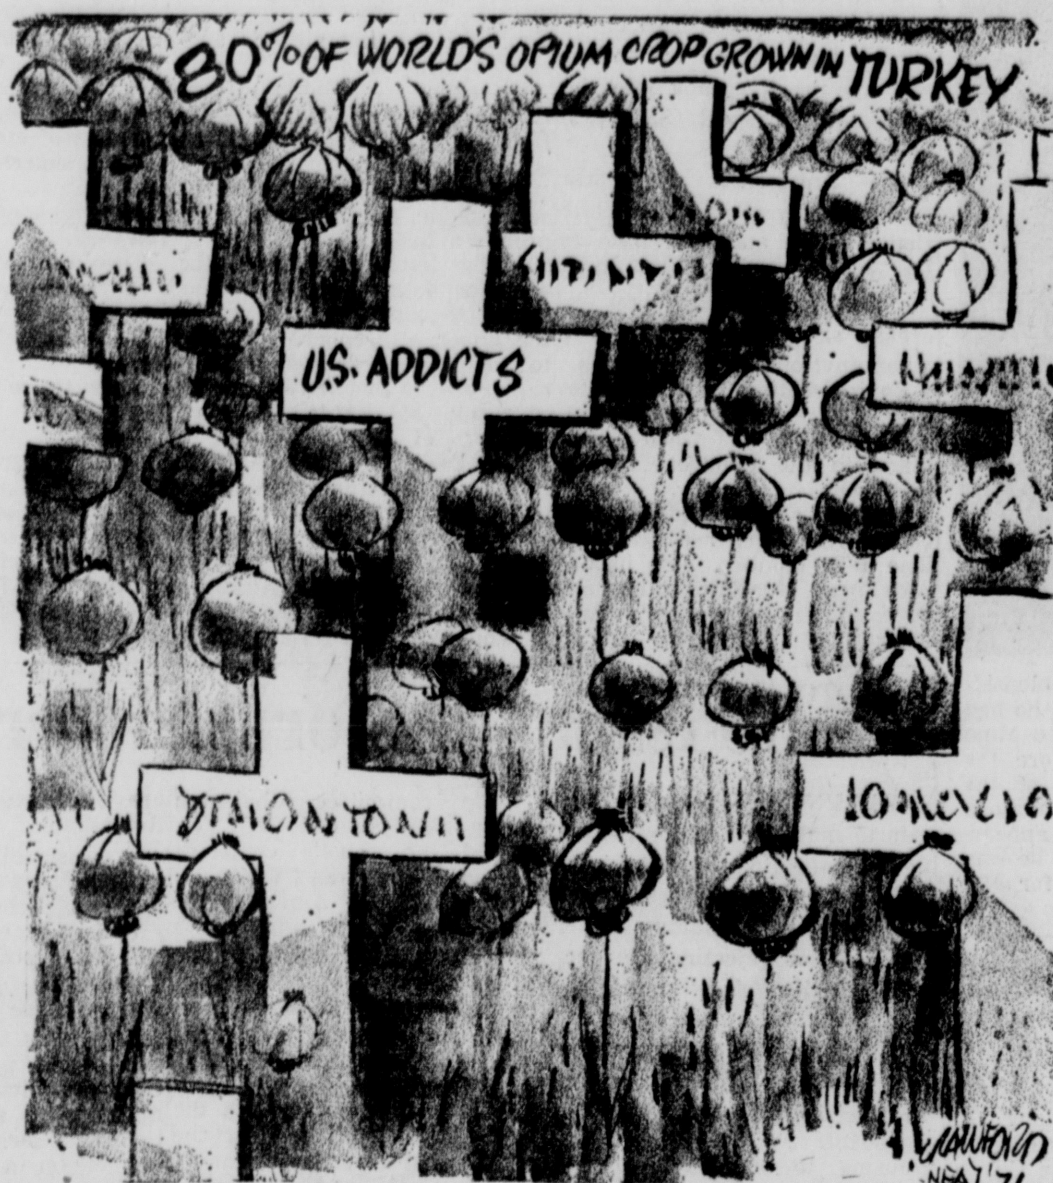

A year ago, on his 70th birthday, and in his usual happy mood, Armstrong called his "a beautiful life." None could gainsay him that self-spoken epithet.

Satchmo's philosophy was as simple as the joy he took in his music and the happiness he gave to others. He once summarized it like this:

"I didn't wish for anything I couldn't get, and I got pretty near everything I wanted because I worked for it. We don't have no big bills to pay and a whole lot of put-on airs like some people. We live a normal, good life. That's enough."

A world-famous figure, Louis Armstrong was a man who was truly beloved.

He was beloved of people and he loved people. What more can a man want.

U.S. Ties With France

PARIS — When the French celebrate Bastille Day, as they will do tomorrow, they celebrate a fiction. Only six prisoners and a drunken jailer were in the Bastille on this day in 1789, and it was not until three years later that the mobs were there in earnest.

The Bastille ruins are long gone. And surely it is no fiction to say that the French Revolution was a watershed — when the world changed, never truly to return to its past.

King Louis XIV announced that he needed a larger hunting lodge, wrecked the French economy and came up with the palace of Versailles. The "Sun King's" wanton extravagance, however, inspired planning in the better manner — the city beautiful.

Although Versailles had many silly and regrettable features, it was nevertheless the hub of the universe, the palace of the most powerful king, the seat of the most important authority in the world at the time.

Frenchmen, French goods, French teachers and the French language were the world's true civilizers. For about 300 years French prose was the means by which European civilization communicated its chief ideas, hopes, fears and analyses. From the 17th Century on, from Moscow to London, no man could call himself a gentleman who did not speak French. And French traders and missionaries carried the tongue — and Paris — from the Mississippi in our country to the palace of the Chinese emperor in Peking.

When "The King is dead" was announced in Paris in 1774, signalling the death of Louis XIV, great-grandson of Louis XIV, young Louis XVI, barely 20, and his beautiful child-wife, Marie Antoinette, fell on their knees and prayed. "Oh, God, protect us, direct us as we are too young." Nineteen years later they were beheaded.

Years of intermittent revolution demolished the Bourbons, dethroned the Orleansists, discredited the Bonapartists. And through all this the French nation became the bulwark of democracy in Europe. In fact, over a period of time there had never been any other large democracy on the Continent except France.

Louis XVI had what the French call "suffisance": his unshakable, self-satisfied mien. When the Bastille fell he said, "This is a revolt." A courtier corrected him: "No, sire, this is a revolution." And the revolution spread.

It undermined Britain's stability and her balance of power. It ignited the Balkans. One after another the people rose against the Turkish government and won more freedom; the same was true among the Greeks, the Serbians, the Romanians, the Bulgarians. Even the Arabs awakened from their ageless sleep to some sense of national purpose.

France emerged as the counterpart of the American Republic and we have no older ties. A French naval salute to John Paul Jones's Ranger was the world's first official recognition of our flag — the French ships that had humbled England and awakened America. The only large Western European country with which the United States has never been at war is France.

We have had only one important confrontation with this oldest ally: In 1832 the French Ambassador to London, Prince Jules de Polignac, proposed to Paris a detailed carving up of Latin America among the European powers as several gained independence from Spain. We issued our counterweight warning: the Monroe Doctrine. The Polignac plan collapsed.

French President Georges Pompidou always has been strongly pro-American. So has Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas — ever since the days he fought side by side with Gen. George Patton's troops in the French Resistance. So has Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, whose credentials as a pro-American statesman are unsurpassed in all of Europe. We've come a long way in the French estimation since the DeGaulle period.

As for the French people themselves, the viewpoints and shades of temperament that sometimes disturb, and even anger, American visitors to France are not peculiar to the French. They are human differences, and all of us in our different ways are liable to them.

The French on Bastille Day or any other day are a proud, brave, imaginative, artistic, individualistic people with a deep love of freedom and justice. And it behooves us to work for and cherish close and indivisible relations with this country.

Bruce Bioassat Says

Our Health System Needs Checkup

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the present stir over health care, we hear plenty about how American hospitals often fail the poor. Fact is, a good many are far short of satisfactory in treating the affluent.

A hospital is a place for healing, and the doctors, nurses and others are dedicated to that purpose. It is natural to assume their pursuit of it is governed by compassion.

Yet, sadly, there are hospitals where a patient's $80 to $100 a day (for just room charge) won't buy him any visible compassion.

Let's tick off a few examples from two of the finest hospitals in a Midwestern city:

A man who is about to have a major organic operation is suffering sharp pain from a chronic but unrelated ailment. He walks out to see the attractive, smiling head floor nurse and asks if she can get authority to give him the pain-killer he uses regularly.

The smile fades and she snaps harshly: "Absolutely not!" End of appeal for relief from pain.

On entry to that hospital, the man was confirmed for a private room previously requested. Instead of getting it, however, he was taken to a two-bed room shared by another patient. He had to threaten to check out to get what he'd been promised. As it turned out, on the very floor where he went, there were three empty private rooms.

At another hospital, earlier on, nurses were lax about answering the patient's bedside buzzer. In desperation, ravaged by acute pain, the man got out of bed and struggled down the corridor, looking for help.

After a long walk, he reached a room where a half a dozen nurses and interns were laughing it up in what seemed to be a marathon coffee break. He called out weakly to them, but no one responded or even turned his way.

The man decided to fake it. He let himself slip slowly toward the floor, as if collapsing. In a flash, the laughter and chatter stopped and an intern was at his side, catching him. The man got his relieving pain shot. So what's an extra 30 minutes of severe pain?

At the same place there was this nurse. She had ideas of her own. The attending doctor had specifically prescribed a regular dosage of pain-killing shots. The patient knew what it was, and so did his wife.

One day, however, the free-wheeling nurse announced that the man was not to be given any more shots. To provide the ring of authority, she added that the doctor in question had so informed her. In truth, it was strictly her own notion of how the man should be treated.

Nurses are hard to come by these days. We surely need all we can find. But some of those we have seem to be running their little domains as if they were straw bosses in the steel mills.

Incidentally, have you tried recently to call a nurses' desk and find out how a patient is doing?

It's sort of like telephoning an airline to get the arrival time for Flight 102. "The flight left on time . . . It was held up 30 minutes, due to ground fog . . . It's over Denver . . . (Twenty minutes later) It just left L. A."

As for the patient: "He's still in the operating room . . . He's in the recovery room . . . He's due in recovery at 5:30 . . . He's due in recovery at 4:45 . . . He's gone down for X-rays (in fact, he was never on the floor called, but had been transferred to another) . . . He's better than he was yesterday (How was that?) . . ."

So that's how it goes in some of our better hospitals, those warm, throbbing places where compassion rules the dedicated healers. Say, you poor folk, don't you wish you could get the treatment the affluent types get?

Red Hook Group In Opposition To Subdivision

RED HOOK
A four-point statement by the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association on tonight's forthcoming decision on the Vanalba home subdivision from the Town Board was strongly against the proposal.

It stated, in part, "The citizens of the township accepted the current zoning in the belief that the present character of the community would be maintained as a rural residential area.
"Breaking down of the zoning from — three acres or five acres — would create overcrowding of land by apartments — to meet a price and result in potential slum areas.
"Overcrowding results in additional school problems and a huge increase in the taxes which will overburden residents now at their limit of resources, particularly the senior citizens on fixed incomes who do not contribute to school costs.
"Development of areas to multiple dwellings brings on added town taxes by an escalation of services by the town, which is translated into increased taxes."

The statement asks the town board to "unconditionally deny the rezoning requested by Vanalba."

Vows Exchanged

Announcement was made today of the wedding of Miss Christine Ellen Jones of 52 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion, and Alan Frederick Riecke of Flushing, at Saugerties United Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Baudendistel of Saugerties United Methodist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. Myron F. Ronk of Centerville Methodist Church. Mildred Fellows, organist, accompanied Nelson Burhans who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli, daisies, and blue Pompons decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert H. Jones, 52 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Frances Greco, 57-16 Waldron Street, Corona, and Frederick Riecke, 5 Manor Drive, Newark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza, fashioned with a high neckline and Renaissance sleeves. Motifs of Venice lace were applied at the neckline, sleeves and the full floor length skirt. The same lace also trimmed the chapel length circular train. Her triple tiered silk illusion veil was shirred to a Camelot cap of Venice lace. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of stephanotis, daisies, and white sweetheart roses.

Miss Nancy Bruno of Glasco served as maid of honor. Attendants were Ruth Jones, sister of the bride, Mt. Marion; Karen Kafer, Hurley; Karlyn Knaust, Malden; and Jean Smith, Stone Ridge. They wore gowns of multi-color floral prints, styled with scooped necklines and long full sleeves, cuffed at the wrists. The flowing skirts were culotte style and they wore large picture hats in matching colors with bow and streamer details of gros grain ribbons.

Miss Patricia Hall, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Her gown was styled similarly to the other attendants' and she wore a crown of silk flowers in her hair. All attendants carried baskets of daisies, light blue miniature carnations and baby's breath with white ribbons.

John Gagnat of New York City was best man. Ushers were Richard Gosicki, Frank Novak, Gary Riecke, and Robert Stael, all of New York City. Roger Hall, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception for 110 guests was held at Sawyerkill Country Club.

For her wedding trip to Cove Haven, Pocono Mountains, Penn., the bride wore a biele pantsuit.

Mrs. Riecke, a Saugerties High School graduate, received an AAS degree in nursing from Ulster County Community College. Her husband is an alumnus of Brooklyn Technical High School and American Institute of Banking. He is employed by United States Trust Company of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Riecke will make their home at Flushing.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(© 1971, Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

● DEAR MRS. POST: What do you do with a male guest (single) who has had too much to drink? A guest of ours wanted to drive home, about 10 miles, although he could hardly stand up. We took away his car keys and made him spend the night. Did we have the right to do that?

JANE McDERMITT

Dear Mrs. McDermitt: Good for you! Your friend would have been a menace not only to himself but also to every other driver on the road if you had let him get behind the wheel. When a guest becomes really intoxicated, you may refuse to serve him more drinks, ask someone else to take him home, call a taxi or insist that he spend the night.

● DEAR MRS. POST: My daughter was married recently in a civil ceremony in another state. She and her husband plan to return home in September and would like to be remarried and have a reception. What is the correct procedure?

MRS. J. K.

Dear Mrs. K.: Since your daughter is already married, her religious ceremony should be small and simple. She should not wear a white wedding gown, nor should she have more than one attendant. She may have as large a reception as she wishes, however, to celebrate the occasion.

● DEAR MRS. POST: My wife and I were divorced last year. We have a daughter who is planning to be married in the fall. I am living on a pension. What are my obligations in this marriage?

JIM L.
Dear Jim: You did not say with whom your daughter lives or whether your ex-wife is planning to give the wedding. Since you are living on a pension, it is obvious that you cannot finance an elaborate celebration. Budget yourself carefully, discuss the situation with your daughter and offer to share as much of the expense as you can afford.

Upcoming Meeting

Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at Mariner's Harbor and Restaurant in Highland on Wednesday, July 21, at 7 p.m. Karen Bitonte and Patricia Vernooy are in charge of the program for the evening. A representative of the New York State Police from the Highland Barracks will present a talk on Highway Safety. Reservations can be made by calling Mickey Scott at Kingston.

Music Federation Delegate

Music clubs in the states of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Ohio will be gathering for the Federation of Music Clubs convention in Chautauqua, Ohio, July 16-18 and representing the New York State Federation will be its newly elected District III President Mrs. Henry Millionig of 89 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Mrs. Millionig, who hosted the recent State Federation in Kingston, will be joining delegates from five states in forums and work sessions during the three day convention. The Ohio Federation will be serving as host to the convention with Robert Casey, president, in charge of general arrangements. National President Merle Montgomery will be in attendance as well as Mrs. Dwight D. Robinson, vice president in charge of the Northeastern Region.

Delegates will be given the opportunity of hearing the Chautauqua's Symphony Orchestra with Voytek Matusevski as soloist and the opera TOSCA.

The NYFMC Fall Board Session will be held October 10-11 in Albany. Tentative plans include two business sessions, a tour of the University, a luncheon and dinner and a reception and tea. Mrs. Knox, long a leader in Albany and Districts III and IV is chairman of the session.

The New York Federation is a philanthropic organization composed of musical groups and individuals, all of whom care enough for the art of music to lend their support to our efforts. Through these music groups and individuals, who are the very backbone of music in this country, many Federation activities are channeled. The state organization supports itself by very modest yearly dues, one-half of which is retained by the State, and by contributions and incidental earnings from musical and other activities. Officers, directors and chairmen contribute their services to the cause of music and give much of their time, energy and means to this rewarding work. During the long history of both the national and state organizations this has been a matter of proud record.

Dammiers Are Vacationing

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dammier of Kingston are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ferrara and Belle Ferrara at their home in Forest Grove, Oregon. The Dammiers have been visiting their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dammier at Tempe, Ariz., since last November, and are now touring the Northwest.

They visited Las Vegas, Nev. and traveled west to California where they enjoyed Sequoia National Park and Yosemite National Park. Other points of interest included Lake Tahoe, Carson City and Virginia City, Nev. From Nevada, they toured the huge Redwoods in California where they cut across to Forest Grove.

While visiting the Ferrara home they took a trip to Columbia Gorge to Bonneville Dam, the fish ladders and hatcheries, and enjoyed the scenic drive up the Columbia Gorge.

The group spent a day at the coast visiting the Tillamook Museum, picnic lunch at Cape Lookout State Park, and the Tillamook Cheese plant. From there they traveled up the coast to Fort Stevens State Park to see the ruins of the Peter Iredale ship that ran aground at the mouth of the Columbia River in 1906. At Astoria, the oldest city on the west coast, they visited the historical Astoria Column, a memorial to the Lewis and Clark Expedition of 1804-1805.

Their plans include driving through Washington into Canada, back through Montana, Yellowstone National Park, Utah, on their return to Tempe, Ariz.

Sember-Pliego Nuptials Told

Miss Mary JoAnn Sember, 69 Hoffman Street, Kingston, became the bride of Louis Ralph Pliego, Sawmill Road, Lake Katrine, on Saturday, June 26, at 2 p.m. at Immaculate Conception Church, Kingston. The Rev. Leo F. Adamski officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Marion Marquart, organist, accompanied Miss Eileen Reis who sang traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sember, 69 Hoffman Street, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pliego, 30 Hicks Street, Brooklyn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride for a gown of Chantilly lace and organza in the traditional styling. The gown was fashioned with a V-neckline and long tapered sleeves. The full skirt of lace and tiered tulle was swept back into a chapel length train. Her triple tiered veil was shirred to a petalled headpiece edged with seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade of white and yellow roses and gypsophyllia.

Miss Theresa Haybruck, 200 Tremper Avenue, Kingston, served as maid of honor, in a gown of romance blue georgette, fashioned with a fitted bodice and long billowy sleeves. The bodice, neckline and sleeves were enhanced with wide Venice lace banding which also encircled the empire waistline. The full skirt was floor length and she wore a stylized headpiece in matching color with a tulle flirtation veil. Miss Haybruck carried blue daisies and pink roses.

Miss Mary Tatarzewski, 70 Shufeldt Street, Kingston, and Miss Rose Pousant, Malden-on-the-Hudson, were attendants, and Miss Ann Sember, sister of the bride, 69 Hoffman Street, Kingston, and Miss Jo Ann Janasiewicz, cousin of the bride, Kingston Terrace, Kingston, were junior bridesmaids. The attendants wore gowns identical in styling to the honor attendant's except in sky blue and carried blue daisies. The junior bridesmaids wore similar gowns of bon bon pink and carried pink daisies.

MRS. LOUIS R. PLIEGO

The brother of the bridegroom, Charles Pliego, Brooklyn, was best man. Ushers were Walter Hung, Main Street, Ruby, and Keith Snyder, Port Ewen.

A reception for 140 guests was held at White Eagle Hall, Kingston.

The bride for a black pant suit with brown accessories and a white miniature carnation corsage for her wedding trip to upper New York State.

Mrs. Pliego was graduated from Immaculate Conception School and John A. Coleman High School. She is employed by Kingston Hospital. Her husband is a graduate of George Westinghouse High School, Brooklyn, and is employed by Kingston Hospital. He served with the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Pliego will make their home at Church Street, Ruby.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: May I use your column to offer some advice?

Girls, never accompany your husband to his class reunion unless you went to the same school and know some of the same people. I just returned from attending my husband's 25th high school reunion and I've never had a lousier time. Ralph was (and still is) a handsome fellow, and he was popular in high school, so when we walked in everyone fell on his neck. He introduced me around and I never saw him again until it was time to go home. I didn't know a soul, so while Ralph was laughing and talking with his old school chums I sat alone in a corner like a bump on a log, bored to tears. Everyone was showing pictures of their children and grandchildren and talking about "old times."

I'm not faulting Ralph. I know he hadn't seen these people for 25 years and they had a lot of catching up to do, so I couldn't expect him to see that I was entertained.

So girls, stay at home and let your husbands go to their class reunions alone, unless you enjoy sitting in a corner, talking to yourselves.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: Your letter makes a lot of sense. But some wives would rather go and sit like bumps on a log than send their husbands to such affairs alone.

DEAR ABBY: I am 82 years young and I live in a rest home for ladies. I was in "show biz" most of my life and I love a good laugh and have gotten many from your column which I read faithfully every day. I would like to share something with you (and your readers) if you want to use this:

Last evening at dinner, a lady who is 86 said to me, "I had a priest visit me today and he told me that the Catholic faith did not require confession anymore."

I replied, "I know why. They're writing to Dear Abby."

God bless you and keep you well.

LILLIAN

IN WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

DEAR LILLIAN: And God bless you, too. Your letter made my day!

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Mule's Wife," who said her husband refused to wear a tuxedo to their son's wedding, but if you, Dear Abby, would say the word, he'd rent one and wear it. (You said the word, so I assume he wore one.)

Well, last week my granddaughter was married at a formal wedding. Everyone in the wedding party wore tuxedos—except the groom's father. He wore a dark business suit. Nobody cared and few even noticed it. All eyes were on the bride and groom.

Isn't it better for the father of the groom to feel comfortable in a business suit than to put on a tux and feel like a monkey?

"Mule's Wife" shouldn't let a little thing like that upset her. She should thank God she still has her "mule."

Mine passed away 12 years ago, and the tears I shed at my granddaughter's wedding were because my "mule" couldn't be with me to witness his only granddaughter's wedding.

GRANDMA NOVAK

DEAR GRANDMA: I agree with you, but if I hadn't said "the word," the other "mule" wouldn't have worn to tuxedo to his son's wedding, which probably would have spoiled the occasion for his wife. I try to prevent trouble, when possible.

We will accommodate as many walk-ins as possible. Try us.

Blue Faces Ellis in All-Star Classic

DETROIT (UPI)—Dock Ellis, who didn't think he'd get the job, was set today as the starting pitcher against the American League in base-ball's annual mid-season fiesta, the All-Star Game.

The Nationals, seeking their ninth straight victory in the diamond's glamor game, were listed as 7-5 favorites over the smattering American Leaguers for the contest which will draw a capacity 53,089 fans to Tiger Stadium by the 8:15 p.m. EDT game time.

But this year the A. L. has Blue, the 21-year-old rookie lefthander who a year ago was in the minor leagues watching the game on a TV set in Des Moines, Iowa.

Blue, who has won an astounding 17 games and lost only three at mid-season, got the nod as starting pitcher from A.L. skipper Earl Weaver some time ago because Weaver, though preferring to save Vida's fastball for the closing innings, knew that was the way most fans want it.

It's the first time in the 41-game history of the classic that both starting pitchers will be black, and that's one reason why Ellis was sure N.L. skipper Sparky Anderson wouldn't pick him.

"They'll never start one 'brother' against another 'brother,'" forecast Ellis. "Besides, Anderson doesn't like me."

But Anderson picked Ellis, who has a 14-3 record, and explained why.

"No, his forecast that I wouldn't do it didn't put any pressure on me," said Anderson. "His 14-3 record put pressure on—that and the fact that he has six days rest. Do I like him? Heck, I don't even know him."

Ellis Ready

Anderson pointed out that Ellis had been scheduled to pitch for the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday against Atlanta, but the game was rained out. If Ellis had pitched Sunday, Anderson said, then the N. L. starter would have been either lefthander Steve Carlton of the St. Louis Cardinals or righthander Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants.

Weaver, manager of the world champion Baltimore Orioles, said Blue will pitch three innings and then be followed by two Orioles pitchers, righthander Jim Palmer and lefthander Mike Cuellar, for two innings each, and then lefthander Mickey Lolich of the host Detroit Tigers for however many innings are needed to close it out.

Weaver insists he'll stick to that rotation even if one man is "bombed" out. In that case he'll relieve with either Martyn Patten of Milwaukee or Andy Messersmith of California "to finish that man's stint."

Weaver was the losing manager when Pete Rose of Cincinnati barreled home with the 12th inning run that gave the Nationals a 5-4 verdict last year. And he says he's going all out to end the humiliation of the A.L., which trails 23-17 in the annual series.

Weaver Wants It

"Darn right I want to win this one bad," said Weaver. "I don't like losing any time, and I got an awful lot of flak in the mail last year when we lost. I sure don't want to get that kind of mail again."

It's hard to see how an All-Star game could share more dramatically than tonight's—for the first batter to come to the plate against the fireballing young Blue will be wondrous Willie Mays, the San Francisco Giants' super slugger who is hot on the trail of Babe Ruth's all-time home run record. And the second batter Blue will face will be Atlanta's Hank Aaron, who is hot on Mays' trail.

Three Subs

The American League starting lineup includes three substitutions from the lineup originally voted by fans in over 2 million ballots, all forced by injuries. Norm Cash of Detroit will be at first base in place of Baltimore's Boog Powell, Detroit's Bill Freehan as catcher instead of Cleveland's Ray Fosse, and New York's Bobby Murcer in center field instead of Minnesota's Tony Oliva.

Fosse is the catcher Rose bowled over in scoring the winning run, and Weaver said the Indians' receiver was "real fired up for revenge and so upset that he couldn't play that he almost couldn't talk."

"He wanted to go out there and hit three home runs," Weaver grinned.

The A.L. batting order has Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, base, followed by Murcer, Carl Yaztremski in left, Frank Robinson in right, Cash, Brooks Robinson at third, Freehan, Luis Aparicio at short, and Blue.

In the N.L. lineup, Mays and Aaron are followed by Joe Torre at third, Willie Stargell in left, Willie McCovey at first, Johnny Bench catching, Glenn Beckert at second, Bud Harrelson at short, and Ellis.

Vida's Dimes On the Money

DETROIT (AP) — When Vida Blue, Oakland's sensational young left-hander, winds up for the first pitch in tonight's 42nd annual All-Star baseball game, he'll try not to let the three dimes jingling in his hip pocket distract him.

Blue, the 22-year-old fireballer who has won 17 games in just half a season, was named Monday by Manager Earl Weaver to start for the A.L. He always works with a pair of 1971 dimes in his pocket and the 20 cents represent on penny for every victory Vida wanted before this season began.

"Just say it's a little superstition of mine," said Blue.

The Oakland ace was asked if there was anything special about his coins.

"Yes," he deadpanned, "they have 'In God We Trust' on them."

Just then, Joe Cronin, president of the American League, rushed up to the precocious pitcher. Cronin has seen his league lose eight straight of these mid-season games and fall behind in the series 23-17. He reached into his pocket, came up with another coin and pressed into Blue's palm.

"Here's another one," said Cronin. "It says 'Liberty.'"

If the American League is to be liberated from the strange hold the Nationals have held in this game recently, Blue must play a vital role.

Last year at this time, Vida was pitching for Des Moines of the American Association. But he approached tonight's assignment with all the coolness of a seasoned veteran.

"I don't read the news papers," he said. "I don't know who is in the National League lineup. I'll just go out there and throw. If they hit me, I hope our guys can hit the cutoff man with their relays."

Whitaker, Moore Gain Victories

KINGSTON Tom Whitaker fired a two-hitter as Saugerties defeated Rosendale, 11-0, in a City League baseball game at Dietz Stadium last night. In another game at Dietz, the Kingston Merchants downed the Kingston Lions, 7-1, on a three-hitter by Charlie Moore.

Mike Palladino picked up another win for the Merchants on Sunday as he defeated the Hurley VFW, 3-2, the Merchants scoring three runs in the third stanza.

Whitaker had good control as he struck out seven and didn't issue a walk. Lynn Barlow had two hits and two runs-batted-in for the winners. Tom Tegeler took the loss for Rosendale.

Bob Marx tripled to drive in two runs, and then scored on a single by Charlie Yankoglu. Bobby Walker singled to drive in Hyler VanWagenen for one of the Hurleys runs. VanWagenen, who had tripled, was the losing pitcher. Palladino struck out seven and walked but two.

Moore was sharp as he struck out 10 and walked but one. However, the Merchants' ace got a lot of help as Rich Freese homered twice and Gary Schatzel added another round-tripper. Schatzel also doubled and both he and Freese had two ribbys. Skip Lyons also had two hits for the winners.

A NEW WAY TO MEASURE THE "LIGHT" IN YOUR LIGHT BULBS

You may have noticed that the sleeves on your new light bulbs carry three ratings instead of the former single rating in watts. This multiple rating may seem confusing but it's really quite simple and will make it easy for you to buy just the right bulb for each location in your home.

100 WATTS
1750 LUMENS
750 HOURS

1. The first rating is the old familiar "watts." All this tells you is the amount of electricity flowing through the bulb — not how much light the bulb gives out.

2. Lumens. This may be a new word. It simply means "light." The "lumen" number tells you how much actual light the "watts" are producing in this particular bulb. A 200 lumen bulb is twice as bright as a 100 lumen bulb.

3. Bulb Life. The third rating gives the "average life" of the bulb in hours.

Most manufacturers make "standard" and "long life" bulbs. A 100 watt long life bulb will last 2500 hours or three times as long as a "standard" 100 watt bulb. But, its heavier filament will not give off so much light (lumens). You get longer life, but less brightness. There are places where you'll want a long life bulb (in closets or attics, for example) where a lot of light is not so important. For reading or working, however, you'll want the "standard" brighter light.

Sharman Signs Contract

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Bill Sharman, new head coach of the Los Angeles Lakers, is optimistic today about winning a National Basketball Association championship and as part of his job he's committed to teach Wilt Chamberlain how to be a better foul shooter.

Sharman is the all-time NBA champ on free throws and when he was publicly designated as Laker coach Monday he was asked about the chances of helping someone like Chamberlain, a poor man at the free throw line.

"I think any player who wants to improve himself, especially on the free throw line can do it," he said. "It's just a matter of judging the distance and the direction from the free throw line. I think any player who wants to learn ... I can help him."

Sharman, 45, a University of Southern California product, was signed to a five-year contract by the Lakers at undisclosed terms. There were reports that Sharman's pact called for $70,000 a year. He seemed unbothered by a law suit to prevent him leaving the American Basketball Association team and going to the Lakers.

Sharman is the first Laker coach to have a fulltime assistant. He is K. C. Jones, 39, former University of San Francisco star on the Bill Russell teams of the mid-1950s and a teammate of Sharman's with the Boston Celtics.

Jones was assistant basketball coach at Harvard last season and before that was head coach at Brandeis University. He was with the Celtics for nine seasons.

"I'm glad to be back in California after 12 years in Boston," said Jones, a native San Franciscan.

Sharman said it was his own idea to hire an assistant and said he thinks every NBA head coach should have one. He had assistants when he coached the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA and also at Salt Lake with the Stars of the ABA for the past two seasons.

Sharman was asked if there were "racial considerations" in the hiring of Jones, a black. "Absolutely not," said Sharman. "K. C. and I have been friends for years. I've always admired him."

In announcing his acceptance of the Laker job at the Monday news conference, Sharman said:

"I'd like to say I'm extremely appreciative of the opportunity to come back to Southern California—my home. I'm just tremendously pleased at this opportunity. It's something I've dreamed about."

In answer to a question, he said: "I'm very familiar with the Laker personnel. If they stay healthy, we'll have a fine chance of winning the world championship."

Jack Kent Cooke, principal Laker owner, and general manager Fred Schaus, fielded a question about the possibility of trading Wilt Chamberlain. There's no thought of such a trade at present, both said.

Bold Ruler Dead; Treatments Fail

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — A post-mortem examination of Bold Ruler, one of the greatest thoroughbred sires in history, has confirmed that the horse had cancer of the throat lymph glands.

"There was nothing surprising, nothing we didn't suspect," a vet said after the examination following the death of the 17-year-old stallion Monday.

Bold Ruler was humanely destroyed after it was discovered the cancer that had been treated last year had spread again.

Maxwell Team Captures PGA Event

STAMFORD — The team of Jack Maxwell, Pete Dalpe, Dick Roth, and Ed Burke combined for a best ball 26-30-56 to take the Pro-Member Guest tournament Monday at Stamford Country Club.

Pro Jim Duval carded 33-39-72 to beat his counterparts Dan Powell, Ed Bosse, and Tim Taillon by one stroke in that segment of the weekly North-eastern PGA event.

The winning pro-member foursome edged a team composed of Duval, Al Wesberger, Phil Race, and Ed Champlin also by a single stroke.

A team headed by pro Larry Ostrander and another led by Jim Hutchins also shot 57.

Wiltwyck Country Club pro Bill Reilly and mates Dr. Henry Jacobs, Bill Van Aken, and Bill

Ali Silent—Is It Possible?

HOUSTON (UPI)—Muhammad Ali has changed so much that now he says he doesn't even like to talk.

Ali, 29, moved his training camp to Astrohall Monday for his July 26 fight with former sparring partner Jimmy Ellis. But Ali, known for his showboat style during his training sessions four or five years ago, didn't quip with the crowd once this time.

"It don't give me much pleasure to talk anymore," Ali said. "I'm looking to much more—to defeat poverty, slavery and injustice, not just another man."

The only excitement he provided was getting knocked down in the second round of a three-round session with sparring partner Eddie Brooks, the 215-pound Brooks, of Milwau-

Krajna Struggles but Wins

KINGSTON — Second seeded Gordon Krajna needed three hard fought sets to do it, but the New Paltz ace managed to whip Arun Bhagwat, 8-6, 4-6, 7-5, in their men's singles match at Forsyth Park Monday as the Ulster County Tennis Tournament continued.

Krajna appeared fooled by the unorthodox style of Bhagwat, but the veteran was able to triumph with fine overheads and consistent net play.

The win moved Krajna into the quarter-finals where he joins top seeded Bill Zeeh and Tom Provenzano.

In other matches Monday,

Provenzano took his place in quarter-finals by crushing Carl Hubert, 6-1, 6-1. Tom will meet Zeeh in his next outing.

Judy Hevesi topped Barbara Fite, 6-0, 6-1; Judy Sykes beat Sandi Ihly, 6-1, 6-1; and Barbara Badalato defeated Aileen Cramer, 6-2, 6-2, in women's singles.

Dr. Fletcher Nabs President's Cup

KINGSTON — Dr. Murry Fletcher scored Davenport had the best rounds of 42-48-90 and, with the scores, hitting 39-44-83. However, his 10-stroke handicap left him three short of the victory, to win the President's Cup.

Jenson hit rounds of 43-48-91, tournament at the Wiltwyck Country Club.

Fletcher and two other golfers, Bob Davenport and Bently open to all members. The net score is the only one that counts regulation round and had to, and full handicaps are used.

Allen Leads Frank and Ed's; Fitzgerald Hits Grand Slam

KINGSTON — Cab, led by Ron Burris' triple and double won by six runs.

At Hasbrouck Park, Tom Aringer smashed two home runs and Zip Secreto hit one in Way-side's 14-3 romp over Perry's.

And in that make-up game Ron Jones and Bill McCaffrey led Cablevision with a triple apiece.

Clare Jansen went three-for-four with a triple for the losers.

SPIRO IN KENYA — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew (L) strolls the links with Dr. Njoroge Mungai, Kenya's foreign minister, during game of golf near Nairobi, on Monday. Agnew teed off first, keeping his ball barely in the fairway and about 150 yards. As is Agnew's custom, no scores were announced. He's here on a three-day visit and is expected to hold talks with Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta. (UPI RADIOPHOTO).

Shrimp Farms on Horizon; Report Twin Breakthroughs

KINGSTON, R.I. (UPI)—A University of Rhode Island scientist has developed pollution-resistant shrimp that are not likely to eat each other.

The result could be making artificial farming of shrimp more profitable.

Dr. Basil Diamantis of the university's graduate school of oceanography said today by genetic manipulation, he has succeeded in partially eliminating the tendency of shrimp to devour each other.

Another breakthrough, he said, is the application of genetic methods to make shrimp resistant to water pollutants.

The result, he said, is that it now may be feasible to breed pollution-resistant shrimp that also are relatively free of cannibalistic traits. He said shrimp exhibit cannibalism at a certain stage in their development.

"Cannibalism in shrimp, a major problem in making the aquaculture of the animals pay, has been found in my laboratory to be the result of both genes and environment," Diamantis said.

Collecting good genes — those conditioning the least tendency toward cannibalism — has managed to minimize the problem, he said. He said manipulating the environment can encourage or discourage the tendency toward cannibalism.

Attempts to artificially farm shrimp through their entire growth cycle, he said, have not proved economical. "We must learn enough of the pertinent genetics and general biology before we can make it an economically successful enterprise," Diamantis said.

The driver, later identified as Luis Quintero, 28, of 298 Covert Street, Brooklyn, was subsequently cited for criminal possession of stolen property and illegal possession of a firearm — a loaded .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Troopers said they contacted the owner of the car, Leon Hirschhorn in Flushing, and the man said his convertible was parked in front of his home. He was told that the vehicle had been stolen and recovered and a suspect had been taken into custody.

Quintero was held pending arraignment before a town justice later.

Car Recovered After Burglary

KINGSTON
A 1969 car stolen during a burglary at the North Front Street Gulf station on Saturday, was recovered shortly after the break-in was reported to authorities.

Entry to the station was made reportedly through a rear overhead door. About $18 in cash was taken and the contents of a cigarette machine were stolen. Detectives found the vehicle abandoned on Clinton Avenue. Investigation is being continued.

Stanford Blast: Suspect Revenge

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — An explosion outside the campus home of the Stanford University director of personnel, punched an 18-inch hole in his daughter's bedroom Monday night but did not injure the girl.

Police said the blast was probably caused by a bomb.

Robert M. Nelson said his daughter Debbie, 18, a student at nearby Stanislaus State College, was standing in her room when the explosion broke plaster, pushed her bed from the wall and hurled a wall bulletin board toward her.

Last month Nelson dismissed five employees for "unacceptable behavior" during sit-ins April 9 at Stanford University Hospital. Two employees have since started grievance proceedings. Two demonstrations protesting the firings were held outside Nelson's office in June.

Nelson, who was in another bedroom at the time said "There was a loud explosion and a ball of fire in the backyard."

No fire resulted from the blast.

Labor Resents Scapegoat Role In Decline of U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor says it is taking the rap for a national economic crisis created by Nixon administration policies.

"The failure of this administration to hold down inflation has created the need for a political scapegoat," S. Frank Raftery, president of the Brotherhood of Painters, told the opening session of the AFL-CIO Conference on jobs Monday.

"They are trying to pin the blame for their mistakes on workers and their unions," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"President Nixon has openly and viciously attacked the incomes of construction workers," Raftery added. "He has found a scapegoat convenient for his banker and contractor friends. He has ignored the true culprits of inflation in the economy and in construction..."

Under Nixon, Raftery said, construction unemployment is at its highest rate since 1961 while construction wages have been declining in relation to building costs.

"On-site labor costs as a percent of total housing costs have been declining by about 2.3 percent a year over the past 20 years," Raftery said. "While financing costs and land costs have actually doubled over the same time span."

Raftery said the price of money, based on the prime interest rate, jumped 33 percent during Nixon's first year in office, boosting the cost of every product and service bought and sold in the economy.

"The fact is," Raftery concluded, "mortgage charges to new home owners increased 27 percent during the first two years of the Nixon game plan."

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okl., told the conference interest rates are "starting to move up again toward 1970's disastrous highs."

"We know that the astronomical interest rates that fueled the 1970 recession brought record profits for bankers," Albert added.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the unemployed "are the victims of a man-made disaster directed by the White House—worse than any natural disaster we have endured."

Noting many banks have raised the prime interest rate to 6 percent, Jackson accused

Local Troopers Apprehend Man On Stolen Car

NEW PALTZ
A 1967 convertible was covered by State Police early Monday and a Brooklyn man was apprehended before the owner of the vehicle learned his car had been stolen from in front of his home in Flushing.

Troopers G. P. Rebhan and J. E. Hornbeck of Highland, were on patrol on Route 299 in this township at 6 a. m. when they spotted a man driving a car on the highway. The vehicle was stopped and the operator questioned by the troopers.

The driver, later identified as Luis Quintero, 28, of 298 Covert Street, Brooklyn, was subsequently cited for criminal possession of stolen property and illegal possession of a firearm — a loaded .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Troopers said they contacted the owner of the car, Leon Hirschhorn in Flushing, and the man said his convertible was parked in front of his home. He was told that the vehicle had been stolen and recovered and a suspect had been taken into custody.

Quintero was held pending arraignment before a town justice later.

Continue Search For Missing Boy In Adirondacks

NEWCOMB, N.Y. (AP) — State police, aided by helicopters, bloodhounds and civilian volunteers, were to resume their search this morning for a 7-year-old boy missing in dense woods near this Adirondack community since Saturday afternoon.

More than 300 persons combed the woods Monday in an unsuccessful attempt to locate Douglas Legg, who wandered away from a logging road near his family's vacation camp.

State Police said Monday they had so many volunteers in the field that they were afraid someone else might get lost in the dense forests of what one trooper described as "one of the most remote areas of the state."

The boy was missing since Saturday afternoon when he started to follow his uncle Myron Melvin into the woods. The uncle told the boy to go back up the logging road to the campsite of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Legg of the Syracuse suburb of Baldwinsville.

Douglas has not been seen since, police said.

FLIRT? (Q.) My next-door neighbor is about 59. Maybe not that old — but he has gray hair. Today he tried seriously to flirt with me. For a long time he had called me his "girl friend," but I had no idea he had THAT in mind.

I'm scared. He's old enough to be my grandfather. His daughter is only a year younger than I am. I've told my girl friend about him but not my parents. They like him. How can I stop him? — Frightened in New Jersey.

(A.) Stay away from him. Stay away from his house. Give him no further chances.

It is possible he misunderstood something you did or said. It is possible you misunderstood what he said. It is possible he was testing you. Some men do that, and go no further unless encouraged.

He probably will not try anything else if you avoid him. If he does, tell your parents.

OLDER GIRL: (Q.) I'm almost 16 and deeply in love with a young lady of 18. She loves me, too. My parents don't think I should have a girl older than I am. Do you? — Not Too Young to Know in Tulsa, Okla.

(A.) Age is not everything in a relationship between two human beings. Compatibility is a much more intelligent measuring stick than old-fashioned rules as, "Your boy friend must be taller and older than you."

Such concepts can cause needless hangups. I do not think a girl of 18 is necessarily too old for an intelligent boy of nearly 16.

If you were 14, my answer would be different.

Senate Urged to Prod Nixon On Pursuing VC Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators are asking the Senate to prod President Nixon to urgently pursue Communist proposals for a peace settlement in South Vietnam.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader, has labeled "the sheerest idiocy" suggestions by some Americans for quick, complete acceptance of terms offered by Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

While Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he understands administration reserve in considering the proposals, they may "contain light for a final peace settlement."

"As I see it, the time to find out is now," Mansfield said.

Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., proposed a resolution to have the Senate declare: "The highest urgency of this administration shall be to pursue promptly, with good faith, and with full resources at its disposal, the current proposals. Their resolution also would urge that the sole consideration in negotiations about the Communist terms be an agreement providing for release of U.S. prisoners simultaneously with withdrawal of American forces.

Scott told the Senate Monday that, in addition to those points, the Communist plan includes a demand that the United States pay war reparations to Hanoi, that all American bases be dismantled and all military equipment removed.

The terms, he said, also include a call for coalition government, which implies setting aside results of South Vietnamese elections due this fall.

The resolution Eagleton and Mondale proposed would declare a peace agreement based on U.S. withdrawal and prisoner release would not be contingent on or delayed until the October elections.

Scott would not comment on the resolution. But he said in a Senate speech the Viet Cong proposal should be examined, negotiated, traded—not grabbed—by the United States.

Meo Tribesmen Control Laos' Plain of Jars

SAIGON (AP) — The army of Meo tribesmen trained and equipped by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency has seized virtually complete control of the Plain of Jars in eastern Laos and encountered no significant resistance from Communist forces.

Except for five months in 1969, the Plain of Jars has been held by North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces since 1964.

American sources who arrived in Vientiane from the plain 100 miles north of the Laotian capital said Meo command teams have covered most of the area in search of enemy supplies and uncovered large underground food stores, including canned pork, condensed milk, coffee and candy.

Very little munitions were found, however.

The Meo army is led by Gen. Vang Pao. For years he has launched offensives in the monsoon season to strengthen his positions against the attacks which the North Vietnamese make during the dry season beginning in November. Usually the Meo forces advance in the wet season and are pushed back during the dry months.

The drive this year began last week. Officials in Vientiane said they expect Vang Pao's men to attempt to hold the Plain of Jars although they have not yet prepared permanent defensive positions. They have established artillery bases on hillsides in the plain, sources said, and some of them are reportedly manned by Thai troops financed by the U.S. government.

The sources said American helicopters and C123 transport planes are ferrying troops and supplies into Xiangkhoang airfield in the center of the plain. U.S. B52 heavy bombers and fighter-bombers are reported attacking enemy supply routes including Route 7 leading from North Vietnam to the Plain of Jars.

The lull in battlefield action continued across Indochina, and air activity was reduced by tropical storm Kim, which moved on up the coast after lashing the northern sector of South Vietnam with up to 10 inches of rain.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported that enemy gunners shelled an American artillery base 15 miles northwest of the coastal city of Nha Trang. A communiqué said some Americans were wounded but none was killed and damage was "light."

Secret World Bank Report

Fear Famine in East Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A World Bank mission says President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan must rush food to East Pakistan to head off catastrophe of big-scale starvation and a massive new exodus to India.

In a secret report, the 10-man mission discreetly but unmistakably urges the military ruler of that South Asian land to remove—as a first step—some of his West Pakistani troops who stand accused of terrorizing the population.

The group of foreign experts says these are among minimum remedial measures needed if East Pakistan is to emerge from chaos. Other suggested moves with the same purpose:

—Appointment of a civilian administrator for the eastern province.

—Setting up an emergency food-distribution system.

—Adoption of an effective plan containing clear economic priorities to deal with the crisis that confronts East Pakistan.

—Restoration of a disrupted road, rail, water and air traffic systems to get the farms, factories, firms working again.

The report of the World Bank mission, circulated to top executives only, was made available to The Associated Press by qualified authorities. It was based on an investigation in early June of the aftermath of the insurrection in East Pakistan.

When the head of the mission, Britisher Peter Cargill, conveyed the group's main findings to President Yahya personally last month, the Pakistani strongman said bluntly in a stormy encounter he simply did not believe them.

Some estimates say more than 200,000 people already have died in the Pakistan civil war—bloodiest conflict since World War II according to World Bank officials. Between 6 million and 7 million have fled into India.

The report grimly portrays East Pakistan as a country of ghost towns where the people who have stayed behind seem haunted—if not by fear of the troops then by the specter of starvation.

"The situation varies greatly from Dacca, where our collective impression is that no more than 50 per cent of the usual population is in evidence during the day; to Chittagong where only a third of the population appears . . . to Kushtia where no more than 10 per cent of the normal population remains . . .

"One ominous development is that the population is reliably reported to have doubled in areas of Patuakhali and other parts of the coastal region where the food situation is already critical and there is serious doubt that even the normal population can be supplied with adequate foodgrains over the coming months."

Summing up its 10,000-word report the mission said it found no firm evidence to suggest "fear, distrust and uncertainty" will be dispelled to open the way for a general improvement of prospects.

Belfast Unrest Continuing, Bombers Strike for Second Night

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—An army patrol, attacked with a nail bomb, shot and wounded a civilian today in the city's Roman Catholic White Rock Road area, an army spokesman said. No soldiers were injured.

In Londonderry, an army unit fired three shots into a crowd to rescue a soldier being beaten by a mob. Later a civilian was admitted to a hospital with gunshot wounds, the spokesman said.

In Belfast's City Center, a midnight explosion extensively damaged the British home stores on Castle Place.

It was the second night in a row the downtown section had been the target of bombers. Two large department stores were damaged early Monday and nine persons slightly hurt. Monday night police said three men and a woman had been charged in connection with the earlier blasts.

The incidents followed the killing of a soldier by a sniper Monday evening in Belfast's Catholic Lower Falls Road area. The soldier, a member of the Royal Green Jackets, was the ninth fatality among British troops in the province this year.

The soldier was hit in the chest while on sentry duty in an observation post atop a burned-out factory. The sniper apparently hid in an abandoned house across the road, the spokesman said.

The victim was among 11,000 British troops deployed throughout the province while members of the Protestant majority marched to celebrate the 281st anniversary of the Protestant victory over the Roman Catholic armies at the Battle of the Boyne. The march passed without major incident.

by automatically renewing your Oil Heat Delivery and Maintenance Agreement for the coming year. Without signing a paper or returning a form, you're assured of prompt Oil burner service and a dependable supply of Oil whenever you need it . . . plus one less chore to remember this summer.

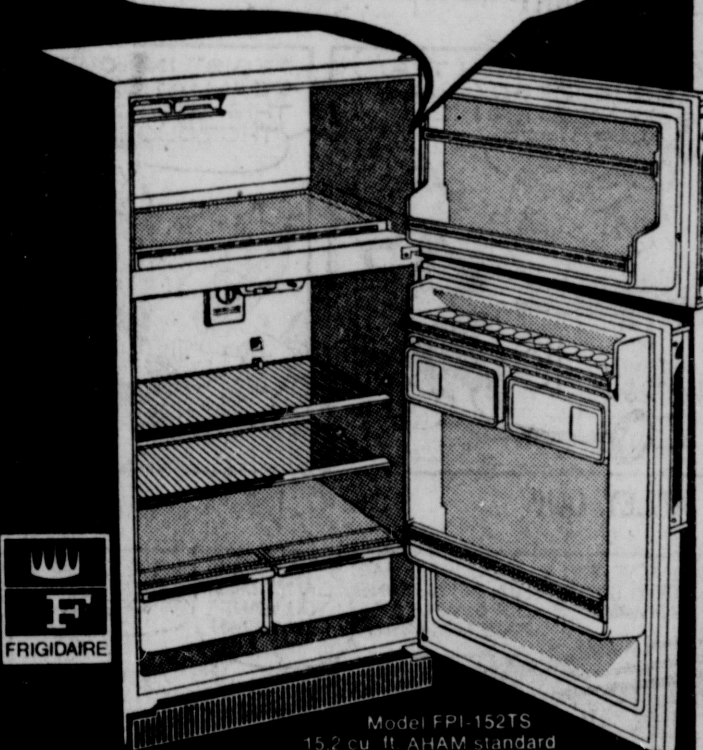

HUDSON VALLEY OIL HEAT COUNCIL, INC.

Serving Dutchess, Ulster, Orange & Sullivan Counties

Only 30" wide and 60" high Frigidaire
15.2 cu. ft. Refrigerator

More room in less space. Because Frigidaire uses a super insulation! So efficient it creates a slim wall that means more room inside, less bulk outside.

It's big! 15.2 cu. ft. overall with a 10.43 cu. ft. refrigerator section and a 4.75 cu. ft. freezer to store up to 166 lbs. Here's the extra space you want. It's Frost-Proof. You'll never defrost again. It's adaptable. Revers-a-doors may be hinged for right- or left-hand openings, if you move or remodel. No need to call a serviceman. The switch can easily be made by the man of the house.
